The Builder of Choice

Master Builders "Right Time to Buy" Campaign

& the National Housing & Economic Recovery Act

The housing crisis facing our nation is devastating businesses and individuals across the board, beginning with the direct costs to builders, realty markets, homeowners, and suppliers to the building industry. This in turn impacts other supporting industries and retail spending. This month's Business Before Hours event on August 22nd will identify specific trends, and focus on how we can overcome these challenges and work towards recovery.

Our featured speakers:

Sam Anderson, Executive Director of the Master Builders Association will present ideas and solutions that will assist both builders and potential homebuyers, and explain why even now it can be the "Right Time to Buy" a new home. Gary Wright, who is the current Director of Political Action in five western states for the National Association of Realtors and the Director of the Washington Association of Realtors, will focus on the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 bill just signed on July 30. He will provide insight on ways that current homeowners may use these new provisions to prevent foreclosure, refinance out of deadly sub-prime loans, and how these measures are intended to stabilize the housing market and restore fair market value pricing by avoiding foreclosures.

NOTE: Due to rising costs of program expenses we have implemented a small event fee increase of $3.
